

Reading Material

There are many media outlets that cover news and information related to small businesses. These can be a valuable resource for small business owners looking to stay up-to-date on industry trends, news, and best practices. S

Some examples of small business news media include:

- Small Business Trends: This website covers a wide range of topics related to small businesses, including marketing, technology, finance, and more. It features articles, case studies, and other resources for small business owners.
- Forbes Small Business: This section of the Forbes website features articles, interviews, and other content focused on small businesses and entrepreneurship.
- Small Business Administration (SBA) Newsroom: The SBA is a government agency that provides support and resources for small businesses. The SBA's newsroom features news and updates on programs and initiatives related to small businesses.
- Inc. Small Business: This website, part of the Inc. media brand, features articles and resources for small business owners and entrepreneurs. It covers a wide range of topics, including marketing, sales, leadership, and more.

In addition to these online resources, there are also many print and online publications that cover small business news, such as Entrepreneur, Fast Company, and Business Insider.

These media outlets can be a valuable source of information and inspiration for small business owners.

Idea Sheets provide quick and actionable suggestions to drive more referrals and sales. Visit www.referralsafe.com/asktra frequently for new additions.